Smoking Ceremony

Trashions on the catwalk competition

ECHO STANDS FOR EAST COAST HARVEST ODYSSEY

and is a boutique style Festival, intimate and friendly, held right here in Swansea on Friday 22nd and Saturday 23 March at Redbanks property (thank you Sandy Shaw).

Founded by Ange Boxall, local musician and event organiser, in 2019, a great deal of time and effort goes in by Ange and her assistants. Their aim: to create MUSIC, MAGIC and MAYHEM and allow you to go on a journey elevating your senses of Smell, Sight, Taste, Sound and Touch with all the Festival has to offer.

The Festival began with a FEAST on the Friday evening, followed by the Saturday (and into the night) with a program of Music, Art, Crafts, Visual displays and other creative avenues, not just to watch and be entertained, but given the opportunity to be "hands on" making things yourself, as in the Trashions - creating an outfit from recycled clothing and trash, later worn on the 'Catwalk' for judging (good fun!) and forging a blade in the, Blacksmith Shop then continuing to The Wood Working tent to complete it by making the handle. The Old meeting the New.

Henry Ribbon

Foods, local Wines, Whiskey and Gin Distilleries, Environmental information and displays, Honey and Oyster production were all there providing displays and presentations all through the day, along with Poetry, Roving Minstrels and various Bands and Solo Musicians and DJs progressing into the night.

Tasmanian Aboriginals welcomed the crowd to Country, shared their traditional stories, Bush Food skills and Rope making craft with the participants throughout the day and also invited all people to join in the Smoking Ceremony in the afternoon with people walking around a smoking fire of Peppermint Gum leaves.

Plenty of comfy haybales and lounges were available to sit and enjoy a beer, wine or coffee and just take in the vibe.

When you needed something more serene, the Womb Room (teepee), provided cushions to retire on and earphones hooked up to enable one to listen and meditate on their own heartbeat.

The overall feeling during the day was very relaxed and friendly. There were locals, visitors from other areas of Tassie and other states, and everyone enjoying themselves.

MARINE and SAFETY TASMANIA

PADDLING SAFETY

Paddling has become increasingly popular across Tasmania in recent years, with kayaks, canoes, and paddle boards using the waterways day and night.

Our aim at MAST is to ensure that paddlers remain safe at all times by planning their trips and having the required safety equipment.

Paddle craft must have a white strobe or all-round light with 360-degree visibility. These lights must be in use when paddling between sunset and sunrise and at other times when visibility is reasonably limited. Unlike lights worn on the front or back of the body, a 360-degree light ensures visibility to all other watercraft.

Similar to cyclists on roads, paddlers must remain vigilant for other craft on the water, especially at night or in low-light conditions.

Other required safety equipment is a Level 50 life jacket in Smooth and Sheltered Waters and a Level 100 in Coastal Waters. A tethering device must also be used when more than 200m offshore. The method of attachment and what you are attaching it to will depend on which style of craft you are paddling.

For sit on top kayaks, having the boat attached to yourself is recommended as these craft are prone to being blown away leaving the user with nothing to hang on to.

For sea kayaks and canoes, a paddle leash is a better option, as these craft tend to take on water if you capsize.

Having the paddle attached to the kayak will enable the paddler to enter and exit the craft unencumbered. The stand-up paddle board user will generally use a leg leash.

An EPIRB/PLB, VHF handheld radio, compass, flares/EVDS are required in Coastal Waters.

It is important to let someone know where you're going and when you'll return, and to avoid paddling in unsuitable weather conditions. As cold-water immersion is a risk, it's recommended to dress appropriately, particularly as winter approaches.

In general, MAST, taking advice from some of Tasmania's best-known paddlers, would advise:

- Paddle with others if possible.
- Try not to paddle in the middle of the river.
- Try to paddle along the shoreline if possible.
- Carry a form of communication, such as your smartphone in a waterproof pouch when in smooth and sheltered waters.

As paddling continues to gain popularity across Tasmania, MAST encourages everyone to enjoy their time on the water safely. Plan your paddling trips and prioritise a safe return. Be Paddle Wise.

Peter Hopkins, MAST General Manager Recreational Boating & Safety

EAST COAST PÉTANQUE COURT

Not sure of what was being played on the day (Boules, Pétanque or even Bocce) but the Swansea Men's Probus Club indulged in it during the week.

Not sure of the history of the court or whether playing the game was a regular Swansea pursuit at some stage but from the look of the signage it would appear to have the type of history that people would say if only it could talk.

Preparation for the game only requires a little elbow grease with a rake on the court and a few hamstring stretches for the competitors (yeah right!!)

The area barbeques are only a short walk away so the highly competitive game was followed by food and drink. On the day SMPC President, Ray Dart, played a fine hand to take the winners prize.

The SMPC can highly recommend the game, court and facilities to interested parties.

Story by Lance Elliott

For those who what to have a go the court is located at the Jetty road end of Swansea Foreshore picnic and BBQ area adjacent to the playground.

Maybe the Council could refurbish the sign so people can know the rules and a little more about the game?

Editorial team

MAYORAL MOMENT FOR MARCH.

The Council meeting held on March 26th dealt with the usual statutory matters as well as leave of absence for two councillors. One of the statutory matters was the Determination of a Code of Conduct that had been lodged against me in relation to a planning matter that we dealt with almost a year ago. I have accepted the Panel's determination, but moving forward I welcome the Office of Local Government's review of the Code of Conduct provisions that hopefully will provide some clarity around the declaration of a conflict that is non-pecuniary in the context of Councillors involvement in community groups.

The questions on notice section provided some interesting reading, particularly in relation to the question around the costs of planning appeals held over from the February meeting. Council welcomes questions from the public and encourages people to lodge them as 'on notice' so that a response can be provided in the agenda.

Council was pleased to support some event funding for Bicheno Beams and the Van Dieman's Band as well as a community small grant for the Spring Bay Maritime and Discovery Centre. It is becoming a very popular experience in Triabunna for locals and visitors alike.

The Swansea Court House Management Committee provided their annual report to Council. This group has done an amazing job caring for what is one of our most precious historical buildings.

Have you caught up with the surveys from Council in recent times. The surveys are very important in that they provide us with a snapshot of the community and your expectations. There is considerable value in the surveys as we move into the budget discussions for the coming financial year. Council has had some early discussions around potential rates increases. I would like to assure you that we have listened to your concerns about the current economic climate and as we head into the last quarter of this financial year, we will work closely with staff on budget matters.

In recent weeks I have had conversations with various stakeholders about the need for a Food Hub in Orford/Triabunna. It had been identified by a concerned Triabunna resident that some members of that community have been travelling to the Brighton Food Hub. Have you experienced times when you have had difficulty providing a meal? Have you accessed a food hub or other charity? Do you have concerns about feeding your pet? There will be an anonymous survey done during April both electronically and paper based to gather the data to establish the need. It is not intended that the food hub would be Council run but rather a collaboration amongst the wonderful volunteer organisations, charities, and churches in our area. Some of those groups are already providing some food relief but have offered their support to what has become known for want of a title as 'The Mayor's Food Hub Project'. It maybe you or your neighbour or the person down the road that needs assistance so please reach out confidentially to me at cheryl.arnol@freycinet.tas.gov.au if you would rather not speak in person to one of the other stakeholders when the survey is released.

Till next time, take care and stay safe.

It's time for A Better Future

Labor has a clear plan and an experienced team who will get to work on the right priorities from day one.

We know Tasmanians want a government that takes action to help with the cost of living while also getting on with the job of looking after the key priorities of health, housing, education and setting our state up for the future.

- 🔌 Tasmanian prices for Tasmanian power
- 🏠 More housing for Tasmanians
- 👶 Easier access to childcare
- ❤️ Better access to healthcare

The overall feeling during the day was very relaxed and friendly. There were locals, visitors from other areas of Tassie and other states, and everyone enjoying themselves.

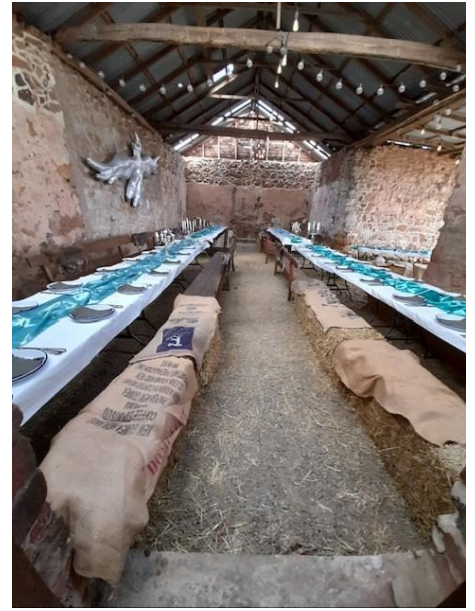

Overnight camping was also available if required.

Well done, and many thanks to all involved, the volunteers and to the Sound Technician (Henry).

OCEAN SWIMMERS READY TO TAKE THE PLUNGE AT BICHENO'S DEVIL OF A SWIM

Hundreds of endurance ocean swimmers are expected to take to the water in the annual Devil of a Swim event in Bicheno, on Saturday 27 April.

The Devil of a Swim has a 5, 2 and 1 kilometre race, as well as a 400 metre kids swim, all starting and finishing at Waubs Beach.

Race Director and President of the Bicheno Surf Life Saving Club, Alex Farrell, said the 5-kilometre course will take swimmers from Waubs Beach clockwise around Diamond Island, before returning to Waubs.

"Last year we trialed the clockwise course and it was very well received, as it allows swimmers to follow a shallower route along Redbill Beach, to a checkpoint on the sandbar, where the swimmers are assessed for their capacity to continue the race around Diamond Island," Alex said.

The 2 and 1 kilometre races will round a series of buoys off Waubs Beach and the kids will swim along the length of the beach.

"There's a range of distances and plenty of water safety support, so it's a great opportunity for people of all abilities to safely get in the water, have fun and try their skills," Alex said.

Local Olympic swimming champion Shane Gould, who is part of a daily swimming group in Bicheno, said getting in the sea has benefits on multiple levels.

"Ocean swimming is about so much more than just physical exercise, it's also great for your mental health and well-being," Shane said.

"Swimming in the ocean transports you into a beautiful underwater world where you can see colourful fish and observe the changing patterns sunlight casts on the seaweed and sand, it just makes you feel good," Shane said.

The Devil of a Swim event started in 2009 as a way to raise funds for research into the devil facial tumor disease, now it's a major fundraising event for the Bicheno Surf Life Saving Club to purchase new equipment such as rescue boards and defibrillators.

"The event has really become a 'must do' endurance event for ocean swimmers from all over Tasmania and interstate," Shane said.

Competitors in the 5, 2 and 1 kilometre race must be 12 years of age and over, there is no age requirement for the kid's swim. There will be fantastic prizes for first place in each category.

Swimmers can choose to use fins, wear wetsuits or compete in the skins event, wearing only bathers.

Families and friends are encouraged to come along to support their swimmer and enjoy the festivities of the day, including a variety of food and drink stalls.

Entries for the event can be submitted online before Thursday 25 April.
