GLAMORGAN SPRING BAY COUNCIL AWARDS CONTRACT TO NOT-FOR-PROFIT COHEALTH TO OPERATE MEDICAL PRACTICES

Glamorgan Spring Bay Council is pleased to announce cohealth as the preferred tenderer to manage its medical practices in Triabunna and Bicheno (East Coast Health and Bicheno General Practice). The competitive tender and independent assessment process will now progress to the three plus two year contract. cohealth is a leading not-for-profit community health agency.

Glamorgan Spring Bay Council Mayor, Cheryl Arnol, said, "Council is committed to improving health outcomes for residents, and we are excited to welcome the nationally renowned health agency, cohealth, to our community."

"We're aware that General Practitioner (GP) accessibility and the health system in Tasmania has not been meeting everyone's needs equally and we know that people simply want to be able to access the health services and clinicians they need, when they need them," she said.

"cohealth has extensive expertise in managing medical practices and primary health services and works from a model of team-based care. The tender process revealed cohealth as an experienced pair of hands to operate the two medical practices. "cohealth is an organisation that is passionate about achieving health equity in areas which experience financial or geographic barriers to health care."

"We see great alignment between the values of our community and those of cohealth," said Mayor Arnol.

cohealth currently operates primary health services across 30 sites in Victoria and specialises in the community health model, which involves team-based, multidisciplinary healthcare that brings GPs, allied health, nurses, dental, mental health and alcohol and drug support together to address the spectrum of people's needs.

The community health model is aligned with the Federal Government's primary healthcare reforms and the recommendations of the recent Strengthening Medicare Taskforce which include a move to more team-based care.

cohealth Chief Executive, Nicole Bartholomeusz, says the organisation is passionate about creating healthy communities and excited to be joining the Glamorgan Spring Bay community. "This is a vibrant and unique community and we're looking forward to helping people live happier and healthier lives," said Ms Bartholomeusz.

"The cohealth approach looks at the whole community and the interconnections between people's mental and physical health, their social connections and environmental circumstances."

cohealth says it has already started to develop a deep understanding of the health issues facing the Tasmanian East Coast community, after having been awarded a two-year Federal Primary Care Rural Innovative Multidisciplinary Models (PRIMM) grant which provides funding to help rural and remote communities design health care that will work for them.

"Our philosophy is 'care for all' and we believe everyone has the right to timely and accessible health services, regardless of where they live or their income."

As a not-for-profit organisation, cohealth has a strong commitment to delivering services at little or no cost for people who are on low incomes, and investing any revenue generated from fees back into local services.

"The Triabunna and Bicheno medical centre teams are highly skilled and committed, delivering great care every day, and they are a vital asset to the ongoing operation. It's important that we maintain continuity of care for patients by retaining excellent staff," said Ms Bartholomeusz.

"We look forward to working with clinic staff and the community to deliver a wider range of health services and programs over time.

SWANSEA LIBRARY CLOSING FOR UPGRADE

For two years negotiations have been ongoing for SOAC to share space in the Swansea Library which precipitated, at that stage, the re-allocation of space.

The Education Department then decided to completely renovate the Library to enable additional space to be provided for special needs children and visiting personnel.

Negotiations have been completed and an Expression of Interest tender was advertised in May of this year. The successful tender was signed off on the 1st July.

Initially the Library was to continue operating through the construction work but after some major problems developed it was decided to close the Library completely. The renovations are scheduled to begin in the middle to late July 2023.

The Library is anticipated to be closed from the 31st July until 24th October 2023. We will attempt to keep Swansea abibliophobia suffers updated as delays are possible, if not likely. Stay tuned.

To the Editor,

The Swansea Men's Probus club were recently hosted by owner Phil Outtram on a visit to his Long Name Farm free range pig farm at Little Swanport.

For those of us who drive through Little Swanport on a regular basis, it is not obvious that there are around 400 pigs on the property nor is the extensive infrastructure required to run the place observable from the road.

Apart from the structures require to protect sows while birthing, the stock is free to roam sectioned off portions of the property. Apparently wedge tail eagles sometimes consider smaller piglets fair game hence protection for the sows when farrowing.

The visit was capped off with a very enjoyable pork sausage sizzle lunch. The Club would like to thank Phil for his hospitality.

MITCHELL WELCOMES EAST COAST MEDICAL TENDER

(SEE FRONT PAGE ARTICLE)

Federal Member for Lyons Brian Mitchell has welcomed the appointment of cohealth as the preferred tenderer for medical services on the east coast of Tasmania. "Glamorgan Spring Bay council has announced cohealth will operate the council's medical practices in Triabunna and Bicheno, providing much needed ongoing certainty for east coast residents," Mr Mitchell said.

"I congratulate the council and cohealth, a leading not-for-profit health agency, on this announcement and look forward to furthering what has already been a constructive relationship with the Australian Government.

"Cohealth currently operates primary health services across 30 sites in Victoria and specialises in the community health model, which involves team-based, multi-disciplinary healthcare that brings GPs, allied health, nurses, dental, mental health and alcohol and drug support together to address the spectrum of people's needs." Mr Mitchell said the community health model utilised by cohealth is aligned with the Australian Government's primary healthcare reforms and the recommendations of the recent Strengthening Medicare Taskforce which include a move to more team-based care.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION WELCOMES THE GOVERNMENT'S COMMITMENT TO NO FORCED AMALGAMATIONS

The Local Government Association of Tasmania (LGAT) welcomes the announcement today by the Minister for Local Government, Nic Street, that the Government will not be forcing any council amalgamations on Tasmanian communities.

To ensure that community voices are heard, the reform process must be collaborative with councils and communities. It must work to understand what councils are delivering well, the challenges they face and importantly, take the time to understand community needs. Forcing amalgamations against local community wishes will not achieve this.

LGAT President and Break O'Day Mayor, Mick Tucker, said that "the commitment by the Minister today to work with interested councils and their communities through the next stages of reform will ensure the process delivers the appropriate change that is in the best interests of individual local areas."

"Local government reform should focus on delivering what communities need in a sustainable way. The best way to do this is to create a more robust and capable system of local government," he said.

"Designing new boundaries and shared services requires time and resources. The transition process must be very carefully managed. The commitment from the Minister today to support this process is very welcomed and responds to a number of concerns our sector has been raising," Mayor Tucker said.

We look forward to supporting Tasmanian councils as they navigate this process and welcome the opportunity to collaborate with the State Government to get this right.

Dementia Australia information session

Are you passionate about developing your community and want to make it more dementia-friendly?

Pat Baines, Community Development Officer and dementia art therapist, speaks about creating a dementia-friendly community.

You will learn:

- an introduction to dementia
- how to support people living with dementia (family, friends, community)
- ways people can live well with dementia every day
- dementia Australia's services and programs, and how to access these.

We can support you to get started as an individual, a business, a club, or as a community; to create a dementia-friendly place to live.

Where: Swansea RSL, 2, Noyes Street, Swansea
When: Wednesday, 26th July, 10.30am - 12 pm
