FRIENDS OF ROCKY HILLS LOCAL ENVIRONMENTAL ACTIVITIES

The Friends of Rocky Hills Group have recently been busy with protecting and planting native species.

In April Friends assisted Parks with habitat improvement works at Kelvedon beach for the endangered plant – narrow thread petal. This working bee involved cultivating areas to disturb the soil, which promotes germination of the thread petal and also removed some native shrubs that were shading and encroaching on the endangered plant. At the Kelvedon inlet area, hundreds of seedlings of the invasive species Sea Spurge were removed.

Friends of Rocky Hills also have just participated in National Tree Day, planting another 6 drooping she-oak trees and 20 correa shrubs at Mayfield.

A huge thankyou to those who participated in these events and to Glamorgan Spring Bay Council for their continued support of The Friends of Rocky community group.

In addition to our rescue vessel and the Police helicopter, responders included a crew from Bicheno Surf Life Saving Club, Wineglass Bay Cruises "Schouten Passage II" and two recreational vessels, "RG76" and "Living the Dream" who came from as far as Cooks Beach. A lone kayak fisherman, who had been in the water for nearly two hours, was recovered nearly 1 km off Dolphin Sands Beach and taken to Swansea to be assessed by a team from Tas Ambulance. And a very special thanks to those members of the public who saw the situation developing and alerted Tasmania Police. The kayak had taken on a significant amount of water and was most

VOLUNTEER MARINE RESCUE HONOURED WITH MEDAL

It is a Red Letter Day for members of Freycinet VMR. Brian Mitchell, MP, Federal Member for Lyons visited our base to inspect the replacement rescue boat trailer that he had assisted us in buying through a Stronger Communities Programme grant. During the visit he presented four members with the Surf Life Saving Australia Rescue Medal awarded for the January 2022 rescue of a kayak fisherman who had spent 2 hours in the water, off Dolphin Sands, clinging to his substantially submerged kayak. (see FB post below)

“A huge thank you to all who responded to the initial report of three kayakers in trouble off Dolphin Sands this afternoon.

NATURAL RESOURCE MANAGEMENT

The Landscape Recovery Foundation (LRF) is excited to announce a new direction and partnership model for Natural Resource Management (NRM) delivery in the Glamorgan Spring Bay municipality supported by community and local government. NRM is about working together to sustainably manage biodiversity, land, water and coasts. The Glamorgan Spring Bay Council has signed a Memorandum Of Understanding with the Landscape Recovery Foundation for the delivery of NRM services in Glamorgan Spring Bay. The Foundation is a not-for profit organisation established to protect and restore biodiversity and ecological processes on a landscape scale.

To kick off the relationship Glamorgan Spring Bay Council organised a "meet and greet" between the LRF and the NRM committee. As a follow up, last week a workshop was held in Swansea to establish the new East Coast Catchments Steering Committee and work out how the Recovery Foundation can best work with community and build a strong program moving forward. "A key part of the discussion was how we can get more people involved. Our natural assets, land, water and coasts, are a large part of why people choose to live here," Josie Kelman from the LRF said. "As well as their aesthetic and environmental values, they underpin the economy and lifestyle of the region." "Community play an important role in managing our natural resources," Josie explained. "We're keen to support groups already working on the ground and invite others to get involved and have a say."

Are you interested in the shaping the NRM strategy for region and being part of direction setting? Sign up for our mailing list to find out how you can help or give us a call.

OSSA PRIZE WINNERS LAUNCH TOUR OF TASMANIA

Get ready to experience a prize-winning performance by two talented up and coming classical musicians as they tour Tasmania.

Third-year classical performance students Sophia Mitchell and Jamie Willson will take their French horn and percussion ensemble on the road, stopping to play in venues on the west, north and east coasts before a final concert in Hobart.

In July, the duo combined their talents to win the University of Tasmania's Ossa Music Prize and People's Choice Award for 2022. This tour is fully funded and tickets are free.

Sophia and Jamie want to promote the rare and rich combination of French horn and vibraphone and marimba with audiences across the state.

Their award-winning performance at the Hedberg in July was described as a stand-out by Head of Music at the University, Dr Arabella Tenniswood-Harvey.

She said that part of their prize was the tour, which will see the duo performing at venues in Queenstown, Swansea, Ulverstone, Launceston and Hobart. The performance in Queenstown is in memory of Margaret Stoermer, thanks to support provided by her family.

"The funded tour is a wonderful performance opportunity for these young musicians who will meet difference audiences and play in a variety of school and public venues along the way,"

Dr Tenniswood-Harvey said. "It's an amazing experience and one Sophia and Jamie will never forget."

The Ossa Prize is named after Tasmania's highest mountain peak and was established in 2018 by University alumnus Rod Roberts to help students pursue excellence in musicianship. In addition to supporting a young artist to embark on a State-wide performance tour, the prize included $2500 to be spent as the winner chooses.

AED EDUCATION TO KEEP SWANSEA LOCALS SAFE

Over the next few months, Ambulance Tasmania paramedics in Swansea will be contacting groups in the area to provide education around 'Hands Only CPR' and the use of Automated External Defibrillators (AEDs)

When a person is suspected of having a heart attack, an AED can be used to deliver an electric shock to try and 'kick start' the heart to commence beating again.

Community groups can log their devices through Ambulance Tasmania's AED app so members of the public can quickly locate a defibrillator in times of emergencies.

Swansea currently has six AEDs registered through the app database.

The chance of survival declines by 10 percent every minute without resuscitation attempts and evidence shows that early CPR and early defibrillation can save lives.

The Australian Resuscitation Council is the peak body that represents all major groups that teach and practice resuscitation in Australia with the motto, "any attempt at resuscitation is better than no attempt."

'Hands Only CPR' has shifted into first aid practices in situations where untrained people are unable to perform mouth to mouth (or adjunct) resuscitation.

If people are unwilling or unable to perform rescue breathing, they are advised to do continuous chest compressions only at a rate of approximately 100 per minute.

The main principle of Cardiac resuscitation is to artificially prolong blood circulation while waiting for an AED or further emergency assistance.

So, Ambulance Tasmania urges you to get involved in education sessions over the coming months to ensure your peers, staff, family and friends have the best chance of survival in an emergency situation.

NEW HONOUR ROLL INSTALLED

A big Thank You to Ricky Dance who installed the Post World War II Honour Roll, in the War Memorial Room at the East Coast Heritage Centre. The Roll was made by Terry Charlton and Maurice Banks some time ago with materials donated by Meredith House, and permission was given by the GSBC to allow us to install the new board.

In the past there was never an established criteria as to how names were put on Honour Rolls, logically a school or workplace knew who had enlisted from their organisation, but on a community level there appears to be few rules established.

Whether you were born here, went to school or lived here, your family lived here, stated it as "Next of Kin" on your enlistment or you came here after having served, it seems to be as long as someone remembered your name you were put on the applicable Honour Roll.

In the case of WWI we have 69 names on the official Honour Roll, 66 on the Glamorgan Council list and both our Curator Maureen Martin Ferris in her research and Fran read in her book listing all the Glamorgan WWI Service personnel have uncovered up to 168.

The new Honour Roll is to record the names of those who served in Korea, currently we have 6 names, Vietnam officially there are only 3 but we know there are many more Veterans who reside or have lived within the old Glamorgan Shire boundary who deserve to be honoured and recognised for their service. There is also Iraq, Afghanistan, Timor, UN Peace Keeping and Those serving currently, whose names really should be put on the new board.

Community input is vital to us installing a complete list of names and permissions will have to be sought from individuals and family members when we finalise the list, although the clever makers of the new Honour Roll have made this an easier task as the panels can be lifted out, removed and names added easily at a later date.
