LIBERAL PARTY BUSTED WITH FIRE TAX FRAUD

The Premier and his Minister for Police, Fire and Emergency Services have been caught out using fraudulent figures to conceal the true impact of their plans to hit Tasmanians with a massive new fire tax. Documents the Treasurer was forced to table yesterday have revealed the figures Minister Ellis released to the public falsely showed a much lower impact than was actually the case.

The documents clearly show the figures were not produced by Treasury, with one senior Treasury official saying they were not aware who modelled the rates that were eventually released.

So where did these dodgy figures come from? Did Minister Ellis make up the numbers himself or did the Premier or his office try to cook the books so they could hit Tasmanians with even more tax than they were willing to admit to?

Premier Rockliff and his Minister owe Tasmanians an explanation. They have been telling Tasmanians one thing about the impact of this new tax for months, while secretly knowing the impact will actually be much higher.

And just as badly, revelations that fire services funding tax was first considered by Cabinet's Budget Committee as "part of broader work being undertaken to rebuild fiscal buffers" shows this has been less about fairly funding fire services than it has been a tax grab to fix the Liberals' broken budget.

It appears the Liberals have been using career and volunteer firefighters, their need for a sustainable funding model, and their deserved respect and reputation in the community, as a human shield for their massive tax grab.

The Premier has a lot of work to do to rebuild the trust that has been destroyed by today's shocking revelations.

DOLPHIN SANDS ABLAZE AGAIN

Dolphin Sands 12.11.2023

Fire, never will two be the same!

Sunday last week saw yet another one of mother natures twists. A reasonable cool, calm Spring evening brought to life by the ravages of fire.

Thankyou to all of our neighbouring fire brigades who responded to assist the Swansea Brigade with a challenging vegetation fire at Dolphin Sands. Brigades from Runnymead to Bicheno responded to the initial call with crews from as far as Geeveston coming on day 2 and 3 to assist. With out the unwavering dedication and professionalism of these volunteers dropping there lives to come and assist us and the residents of Dolphin Sands the outcome could have been a lot worse. ( Not forgetting our district staff, career staff from Hobart and the ever present aerial support a day our partner agencies).

Yes we have had property loss and damage but it could have been a lot worse. We feel for those that have been impacted but are thankful the there were no injuries or loss of life recorded.

We can never be fully prepared for what mother nature may throw at us but we can lessen her impact. Making sure that we have a defendable space around your home, modifying the vegetation so as to lessen the fires ferocity , making sure that you have a accessible driveway wide enough for our large heavy vehicles to

LETTER TO EDITORIAL TEAM

Dear Editor.

The decision by GSB Council to cease mowing the verges outside privately owned properties in Swansea and elsewhere is proving to be highly problematic to say the least!!!! Some would call the decision an unmitigated disaster - poorly conceived, disastrously assessed as to risks to ratepayers, introduced with little if indeed any transparency, and done so at the same time as further steep rate increases. A public policy cocktail for disaster!

I know of many especially elderly ratepayers in Swansea who simply cannot for a host of reasons mow the verges outside their properties. Let alone why they should mow verges on property which doesn't even belong to them - it's Council owned land, and up to Council to maintain it! And to compound the problem, the exposure to several risks to which people who actually mow on Council owned and controlled land are NOT covered by householder insurance coverage. I also know of many residents in the Shire who are simply not going to mow their verges - a perfectly understandable demonstration of completely justifiable civil disobedience.

I can assure readers affected by this appalling decision that it will remain in force unless affected residents actually lodge complaints about it. I therefore strongly encourage you to let your voice be heard by either phoning the Council and lodging a verbal complaint (phone 6256 4777) or send an e-mail at admin@freycinet.tas.gov.au . . . it's up to affected residents to speak up, or else it'll become the standard practice of the Council.

So I encourage ratepayers to avail themselves of the opportunity to make themselves heard. Speak up, or else!!! And there's a "Community Connect" meeting in Swansea Thursday 30th November 10 till 11.30am at the Swansea Town Hall.

Perhaps that's an opportunity to make your voices heard even better!

*JOHN GAULT.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT WELCOMES THE RELEASE OF THE FINAL REPORT FROM THE FUTURE OF LOCAL GOVERNMENT REVIEW

The Government's timely release of the final report of the Local Government Review has been welcomed by Tasmanian councils.

LGAT President and Break O'Day mayor Mick Tucker said "we are grateful that the Minister for Local Government has released the final report from the Local Government Board promptly after it was provided to Government.

"We welcome the extended timeframe the sector has been provided to review the recommendations."

As the level of government closest to communities, local government supports a reform process that delivers change in the best interest of Tasmanians. But our sector needs time to digest the proposed reforms.

"Councils will work through the recommendations over the next few months to help inform the Government on what the sectors priorities are going forward," Mayor Tucker said.

"It is essential the implementation of the priority reforms is a genuine partnership between the local government sector and the State Government. This must include appropriate support for our sector to support implementation, as it must not be forgotten that the important day-to-day work of councils continues alongside these reforms," said Mayor Tucker.

drive along Safely, making sure that your property address is clearly marked .

Sunday nights fire was an eye opener for many with flames being clearly visible from Swansea and surrounds, residents and fire crews awed by the fire tenacious appetite as it feed of the smallest of bush, creating tremendous heat and plumes of black acrid smoke blackening out the sun as it set and the moon as it rose.

Remember we are all human and we handle situations differently from fear, shock, anxiety, anger we are inquisitive and curious we all want to see what is happening in this circumstance can we ask that you view from afar and keep the access free for those that need it. If nothing else can we say that we all have a job to do. Our volunteers job was to protect life and property whilst looking after our fellow crew, we do thing for a reason and sometime that may not be apparent but we have the best interest of everyone at heart.

We are sure that debate will be had in many circles to come on options to mitigate the severity of this event and that of future ones, these need to be had in a productive and constructive way not one of blame or hindsight.

Remember make a bushfire plan and practice it!

Township Structure Plans

Dear Sir/Madam,

The Glamorgan Spring Bay municipality is changing, with increasing growth pressures and new developments over the last 10 years.

To ensure we plan appropriately for the future, Glamorgan Spring Bay Council is revisiting and renewing the existing structure plans for the townships of Orford/Triabunna, Swansea, Bicheno and Coles Bay. These new structure plans will help decide on the most appropriate areas to see further urban development, for housing, business, light industrial and commercial opportunities. The project team will be considering important natural, landscape and economic factors as part of their analysis.

How you can get involved

We want to understand how the communities of Glamorgan Spring Bay would like to see their townships evolve.

Council has engaged ERA Planning and Environment to prepare these structure plans, and as part of this process, the project team will be undertaking community engagement from 13 November until 4 December 2023. There will be drop-in sessions held at the following locations:

Where	When
Triabunna Village, 20 Melbourne Street	Thursday November 23rd 4 – 6pm
Orford IGA, 3 Charles Street	Friday November 24th 9.30 – 11.30am
Swansea IGA Express, 8 Franklin Street	Saturday November 25th 9.30am – 11.30am
Bicheno IGA Express, 39 Foster Street	Saturday November 25th 1.30pm – 3pm
Coles Bay Community Hall, 60 Harold Street	Sunday November 26th 10am – 12pm

If you are unable to attend the drop-in sessions, there are other ways to be involved.

Council has a webpage which includes project information like a State of Play report, maps of the townships and links to a survey page where you can provide feedback on the project. To access this and other project information, please visit Councils project page on their website at www.gsbc.tas.gov.au/community-projects/glamorgan-spring-bay-township-structure-plans or via the following QR Code.

On Saturday the 11th of November, Remembrance Day; a service was held at the East Coast Heritage Centre and Museum starting at 10:45, attended by Seventy or more including Veterans, RSL Members and citizens. The Replica of the Long Tan Cross made in August by Vietnam Veterans, their families and community members affected by the Vietnam War, was also installed to give a focus to the Vietnam Veterans and the community. Sub Branch President Gary Lewis for all who served in Malaya, Korea, Timor, Iraq and Afghanistan, and Nevill Payne for the Vietnam War.

Historically Remembrance Day is seen as remembering the Great War, World War I, but the day has been for the past 51 years declared a day to commemorate ALL Australian Defence Force personnel who served in ALL wars, in particular those who died in battle, although studies have shown that many die of their wounds and injuries even if they are lucky enough to survive to return home. In the

Our resident bugler Major Stephen Miller played the Last Post and Reveille and Gary Stoward was Flag Major along with the Swansea Drum Corp.

Members of the Tasmanian Light Horse Society also attended in the uniforms of World War I which was greatly appreciated by all in attendance.

We would also like to acknowledge and thank publicly all who helped and assisted in completing the paperwork, construction and installation.

To Mayor Cheryl Arnol for her assistance, Councillor Carole McQueeney who spoke for the motion to approve the Cross Installation, who also participated in making the cross and represented the GSBC by laying a wreath on Saturday.

SUPPORTING YOUNG TASMANIANS THROUGH GRIEF AND LOSS

Palliative Care Tasmania (PCT) is pleased to announce the statewide launch of the “Learning Through Loss” website and resources, available at www.learningthroughloss.org.au

Funded through the Department of Health, the program is a vital step towards continuing to provide free grief literacy education for educators and professionals working with young people and equipping them with the necessary knowledge and tools to support young individuals as they navigate the challenges of grief and loss.

The Honourable Guy Barnett, Minister for Health launched the Learning Through Loss website and resources at John Calvin School, Launceston. Principal and Health Teacher Daniel Coote was in attendance and shared his positive experience of training in the program with the Minister.

Mr Coote and his staff participated in training with Learning Through Loss Co-ordinator Jess Sanders, he was so inspired by the training that he adapted the youth resource to create two classes on grief literacy as a part of the school’s health education.

Veney Hiller CEO of Palliative Care Tasmania says:

“It is an unfortunate truth that most young people will experience grief and loss for the first time before they reach the age of 18. Palliative Care Tasmania recognises the profound impact that these experiences can have on young people and believes that early intervention and support can make a significant difference in their lives.”

The “Learning Through Loss” training program and resources delivered predominantly to teachers, has been developed in collaboration with young people who have living experience of grief and loss and is designed to empower participants with the knowledge and skills needed to guide young people safely through the complexities.

Jess Sanders the State “Learning Through Loss” Co-ordinator and facilitator says: “Grief is not a mental illness, but unsupported grief can become one. By offering this valuable training, we aim to create compassionate and grief literate communities who move towards grievers, preventing the potential development of mental illness that unsupported grief can cause.”

The “Learning Through Loss” website is one of many initiatives the program is undertaking to make grief literacy and grief resources easily accessible to Tasmanians.

The website and online resources launched today include comprehensive downloadable tools including “Navigating Through Grief and Loss”, a beautifully designed and illustrated resource for young people that explores grief and provides tools, resources and services to support them.

“It empowers and normalises all expressions of grief and then helps guide students toward processing it” says Jess. So far, the pilot has delivered 16 training sessions with representatives from 31 schools across the State and provided training and support to 251 teachers and staff.

Minister Barnett spoke highly of the program and congratulated Palliative Care Tasmania on outstanding results in delivery across the State. The Minister was particularly impressed by the Learning Through Loss poster which is displayed in schools and directs young people to a digital version of resources via a QR code.

Educators who have participated in the pilot training program have said;

- “I am very grateful for this amazing training as a teacher, as a parent, as a friend. It also helped me understand some of the reactions I had in the past, such as unexpected anger.”
- “The training provided by PCT was valuable. We were given clear and concise strategies on how to support students dealing with grief and loss, and that loss can come in many forms. It also provides clear information on how to access further support and the correct pathways to be taken in a school environment when supporting students.”
- “As the school counsellor, grief is something that I deal with quite frequently. Whilst I have extensive resources and experience in this space, I definitely felt that the Learning Through Loss training gave me another tool to use in my work. In particular, the student resource has been great. So accessible, so clear and great graphics. Highly recommend.”

In light of the program’s initial success, and with ongoing support from the Tasmanian Government, Palliative Care Tasmania hopes that even more young people can benefit from the “Learning Through Loss” program.

PCT invites educators, professionals, volunteers and anyone interested in supporting young people through grief and loss to visit www.learningthroughloss.org.au and explore the valuable resources available on the website or contact PCT for more information or to arrange a free training session.

“Learning Through Loss” is a pilot program funded until June 2024.
